

Services

Paraffin Bath

In a paraffin bath, heat through the use of paraffin is applied to the injured area. The wax solidifies into a layer of insulation that gently heats injured or inflamed areas of the body, in particular hands, feet and wrists.

It is commonly used to bring relief to patients with arthritis and rheumatism.